

Converting a Business from Windows to Mac OS X

After 15 years of strife with Windows the customer had had enough!

The customer is a Manitoba-based business with international sales on three continents. After 15 years, the visionary owner was fed up with viruses, spyware, endless maintenance and the infamous Windows Blue Screen of Death. His company had already made the decision to switch the entire business over to Apple Macintosh. Now they needed a company that could vend the product, perform the installation, provide training during their transition, and be available for priority on-site and remote access support.
