

FreeHand 10

Macromedia is first to the table with a major Macintosh application made for OS X. Actually, version 10 works both in Mac OS 9 and Mac OS X. The new version offers a host of feature improvements and moves to a standard Macromedia user interface. The company claims performance under OS X is better. You can download version 10 today from the Macromedia web site for only $129 US. Users who require the Mac OS X version of the software will have to order the boxed version until Macromedia updates its on-line store to deliver OS X materials.
