

Mac OS X 10.2.4

Apple continued its six week pace of innovations by releasing a 10.2.4 update to Mac OS X. The new version offers performance and stability enhancements. Our favourite is the new PDF Services (<http://www.apple.com/applescript/print/>). We are currently tracking a bug that the update seems to introduce into modem communications –but this shouldn't affect most users anyway. Both single and combo updaters are available from the software update mechanism and as stand-alone downloads.

Quark Announces QuarkXPress 6

Most of our customers haven't even switched over to Quark 5 yet but the company actually announced Quark 6 on its web site today. (No, I am not kidding!) The announcement gives no release date, no pricing, no update details, but does promise it will run with OS X. Stay tuned! <http://www.quark.com>

Netscape 7.02

AOL/Netscape has updated its Communicator Browser/Mail package with performance and stability enhancements.
